

WELCOME to ELC Mt. Horeb

A Note from PASTOR JOHN

May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, so that you may abound in hope by the power of the Holy Spirit

Romans 15:13

Watching the vendors arrange for the farmer's market each week, it is easy to see the abundance of the earth in this season. We live in a rich land that provides nourishment for our bodies in abundance.

It's easy to see the abundance of those gifts, and we give thanks each fall for the abundance of the earth, but how often do we really take note of the more important things that God provides in abundance. Time and time again we are told that God is 'abounding in steadfast love', that 'grace abounds', and, as Paul says in Romans, we may 'abound in hope'. As God's people we have received from God's hand all these things.

How much of this abundance of love, grace, and hope can be seen and heard in our lives? Lately it seems that our society abounds in many other things. Listening to the words that surround us we seem to have an abundance of fear, anger, suspicion, self-righteousness, greed, anxiety, and self-centeredness.

As Christ's witnesses in this time and place, will we allow ourselves to be overcome by this abundance of ills, or will we boldly proclaim the hope, grace, and love that are ours in Jesus Christ?

When we allow the fears and anxieties of the world to overwhelm us, we stop seeing the abundance God provides. When this happens, we begin to see only scarcity in our lives. Then instead of looking for ways to expand our ministries of love, compassion, and service to our neighbors, we look to scale back to the bare minimum necessary to preserve what we have.

Let's commit ourselves to living in the abundance of hope that only Christ provides!!

God's Peace,

FROM THE INTERN'S DESK

It's Not All Bad

"Jesus Christ is the same yesterday and today and forever."

(Hebrews 13:8 NRSV)

Fall is going to quickly be upon us! Yes, I know that means winter is not far behind but it's really not all bad. For me, fall is my favorite time of the year. This is somewhat surprising as I am not a huge fan of "everything pumpkin". I am not a fan of pumpkin pie, pumpkin spice coffees, pumpkin scented candles, etc. and I don't really know why. Apples, however, are something I really get behind. Apple pie, apple cider (and the donuts that usually accompany it), apple air freshener, apples themselves; I love apples and all that go along with them. I also love the change in season. I commute every day from Sun Prairie and I am looking forward to the colorful views of the changing leaves on my drive to and from Mt. Horeb.

As I mentioned above, all of these things will come to an end with the winter weather that happens upon us here in Wisconsin. The cold weather (and sometimes snow) usually precedes the official start of the winter season by a few weeks. In many years, this means the fall season is unofficially the shortest of all the seasons we get to experience. But, it's not all bad. What never changes is the love of God for us – God's beloved children. God's love and relationship with us transcends the seasons and pays no attention to the calendar. This is something we can hold onto in the midst of the small changes in life and the enormous and life changing, life giving transitions that accompany our walk of faith on this earth.

BENEVOLENCE

Leading the Jail Ministry through Transition

The Madison Area Jail Ministry has served our region for more than 50 years, meeting the spiritual needs of a rotating cast of 750 men and 100 women who are serving time. There is always transition in the ranks of the inmates, and lately there has been transition in the leadership of the customarily very stable MAJM. So, our annual show of support for this crucial ministry could not come at a better time. Todd Marcotte took over as chaplain earlier this year and has brought an energy to the position that has impressed the Dane County Sheriffs and connected with the inmates, says Chief Deputy Jeff Hook, a longtime member of our congregation who has been a strong proponent of MAJM in his 30 years with the department.

In the past month alone, Marcotte distributed nearly 200 copies of the Daily Bread devotional, which came with a bookmark that noted all spiritual offerings in the jail and tutorial services for inmates. He guided a special worship service for one area of the jail that lost a fellow inmate to suicide, uplifting the spirits of those who had been despondent. And he has worked to jump-start the New Beginnings Program, which redirects those in jail to lead more fulfilling lives and avoid further incarceration.

It should be noted that our Synod, which has long supported MAJM, no longer has an active presence in the ministry at this time, following the departure of Rev. Christa Fisher. But the ministry continues to conduct Protestant services and serve as an invaluable resource for people at one of the darkest periods in their lives. People who in the majority of cases will quickly return to society as our neighbors, and who need our support to gain better direction in their lives.

We'll accept monetary donations for MAJM throughout October via the Benevolence Program. The ministry is also in need of men's reading glasses, should you wish to contribute that way.

On behalf of the Social Action Ministry Team,

Adam Mertz
