Rebuilding

*I will restore the fortunes of my people Israel,
and they shall rebuild the ruined cities and inhabit them;
they shall plant vineyards and drink their wine, and they shall make gardens and eat their fruit. Amos 9:14*

More than once throughout the history of God's people, we have faced the prospect of 'rebuilding'. Thirty-seven years ago last month I stood in the ruins of my childhood church building in Barneveld after the tornado, and it seemed an overwhelming task. But with perseverance, prayer, hard work, and God's strength, a village, a community, and a congregation grew into something new again.

Now, of course, the past year did not leave us with the ruins of broken buildings, but there's still a lot that we've lost over the past year. But God's people have been here before, and God's strength and healing are always present. What's needed from us is the perseverance, prayer, creativity, and hard work that rebuilding always takes.

There are many decisions to be made about the next right steps. The new building we erected in Barneveld was similar, but not the same as what was there before. We are blessed to have a wonderful building, but we need to rebuild our worshiping community, our education efforts, our fellowship life, our service to others, and our outreach into the community. Let's proceed with faith, confidence, and joy in rebuilding a community of faith that can be a powerful witness to Christ's love, and a servant presence within our community.

Throughout this newsletter you'll see expanding opportunities to return to more familiar practices, but we need your creative input in expanding this ministry!

God's Peace,

PASTORAL INTERN

“For everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven: a time to be born, and a time to die; a time to plant, and a time to pluck up what is planted; a time to kill, and a time to heal; a time to break down, and a time to build up; a time to weep, and a time to laugh; a time to mourn and a time to dance; a time to throw away stones, and a time to gather stones together; a time to embrace, and a time to refrain from embracing; a time to seek, and a time to lose; a time to keep, and a time to throw away; a time to tear, and a time to sew; a time to keep silence, and a time to speak; a time to love, and a time to hate; a time for war, and a time for peace.” Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

Dear Siblings in Christ,

It is with a heavy heart that I must start saying my goodbyes as I head back to Wartburg seminary to complete my final year of classes on my path to become a pastor. This time next year I may be well on my way to making plans for my ordination to the Word and Sacrament roster (aka. Officially a pastor).

I feel like many of these verses from Ecclesiastes speak well to what this year has been like for our time together. The simplest way to describe this year is that it has been a weird one due to the circumstances of the world but it also has been a really good one. Sure, I didn't have the overall traditional internship experience but neither did my classmates. We all (including yourself) were figuring it out as we went through this time together. Even though it was a strange year, I thank God for the opportunities I have had and all that I have learned this year to take with me as I imagine and am led into the future of what my role in ministry will look like and how to incorporate technology and media into the mission of the church of spreading and sharing Gods love out in the world.

I am thankful to all of you for welcoming me and planting me into your lives this past year, and I am grateful for the many great connections I have formed and many laughs I have shared with you. I will truly cherish my time here at ELC as I am being plucked up and sent out into the world to face whatever is next in God's plan for me. I will be sure to keep you all informed of when my ordination will be when I figure that out and hopefully with the added use of technology, it will be able to be livestreamed for anyone who is interested in joining from wherever they are at.

My last Sunday at ELC is July 25th, please let me know if you wish to get together before that.

Much Thanks & Peace,

Intern Tamara

BENEVOLENCE

Helping Build Dreams and Recover from Nightmares

If you're looking for some news that warms your heart, scroll through the posts on the Facebook page for Habitat for Humanity of Dane County, our July mission for the Benevolence Program. I won't do it justice, because the beaming smiles on the faces of families moving into new homes that they helped build through sweat equity says much more than I could relay in this space. It's a look of true joy. Of pride. Of hope.

Too often these days, we have trouble finding common ground on solutions to some of society's most vexing problems. It's hard to imagine someone finding fault with Habitat, the organization started by former President Jimmy Carter, because it has been so effective at selling an idea that almost everyone can understand and support. New homeowners have earned their shot by first investing their time helping others achieve their dream of having a house, and in return they get a no-interest payment plan so they can afford to maintain their place. Current and retired tradesmen enjoy lending their talents to construction, while passing along some skills to other volunteers. And I should note that Habitat now takes on a good share of renovation projects, recognizing that many times the obstacle to staying in a house is upkeep.

Just as Habitat helps people achieve their dreams, our August missions -- Lutherans United Assisting After Disasters (LUAD) and ELCA Disaster Relief -- help people rebuild when they've lived through a nightmare. LUAD is a local organization that comes to the aid of communities in ELCA's South-Central Synod of Wisconsin, while ELCA Disaster Relief is a national and even global service.

LUAD has a long history of helping communities in southwest Wisconsin recover after floods; they were a massive help during the brutal summer of 2018. They make an impact in other ways, too, like donating $10,000 earlier this year to local organizations providing COVID-19 pandemic relief.

It's important to know that LUAD serves the whole community, not just Lutherans. They work with local emergency offices and welcome anyone who wants to volunteer. LUAD would love to have a liaison from ELC to alert them to situations that arise in our area. If you're interested, please reach out to me.

You can donate to Habitat for Humanity in July, and to LUAD / ELCA Disaster Relief in August, through Benevolence by:

- Mail: Send a check to ELC and note "Benevolence" in the memo
- Online: Visit the ELC website and click "Give"
- Digitally: Download the "GivePlus Church" mobile app, or text "Benevolence" to 608-400-0183 with the amount you wish to give.
