NOVEMBER BENEVOLENCE

Improving Local Health Care

We are all aware of the difficulties too many people have when it comes to receiving quality health care. At times it can seem like this problem is too large and too complex to fix, but local organizations can make a big difference on a small scale. We're fortunate to have two excellent ones in our area.

Community Connections Free Clinic in Dodgeville opened in 2006, and provides primary care services free of charge on a first-come, first-served basis every Tuesday and Thursday evening. The clinic is staffed by 127 medical and lay volunteers, and two part-time staff members, and relies on donations from individuals and churches for much of their funding

Our Lady of Hope in Madison opened in 2009, and is a direct primary-care clinic that donates at least 55% of their services to care for uninsured patients consistent with Catholic health care tradition.

They've found success with an uncommon model: about half of their patients pay a monthly membership fee in exchange for primary care, and about half of the clinic visits are provided for free to the uninsured.

Contributions received in November will be shared equally between these two non-profit organizations, which are doing wonderful healing work in our community. Please consider a gift towards these very worthy causes.
